

Barbara Cottrell

Barbara Cottrell is currently the Coordinator of SCANS public presentations and a judge in the Crime Writers of Canada novella contest. During her working life, Barb was a consultant researcher, writer and adult educator with a focus on women's issues, particularly violence against women. She has taught courses on Family Violence at Dalhousie University and St. Mary's University in Halifax and is the author of numerous academic papers. She is also the author of the book When Teens Abuse Their Parents. Her hobbies include gardening, kayaking, biking, and writing poetry and creative nonfiction.