

Susan Holmes

Susan Holmes retired in July 2021 as Professor, Faculty of Continuing Studies, Dalhousie University. She is now Adjunct Professor with the Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences and continues to serve on the Dalhousie Senate Discipline Committee. During her 31-year career at Dalhousie, she was involved in many exciting projects, including a leadership development program for young Nationals from Abu Dhabi, UAE; a Master of IT Education with ITI; and Refining Your Learning Skills for academically dismissed students.

Her work as Faculty Associate with the Centre for Learning and Teaching and several terms on the Executive of the Dalhousie Faculty Association, including two terms as Treasurer, provided the opportunity to collaborate with many wonderful colleagues on campus. She was also Chair of her Faculty Council.